

ABSTRACT

A safe interactive navigation apparatus and method allows the crew of an aircraft to prepare and follow a safe flight plan without relying on instrument flying infrastructure. An aircraft navigation assistance method calculates a continuous, three-dimensional projected path on board the aircraft as a function of data related to the route and characteristics of the aircraft.